Mum's joy over 'miracle' twins

BY EMILY NICE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWINS born with only a 50 per cent chance of survival have been described as "little miracles" by their mother.

Louise Khan, 35, and her husband Faizel, 31, from Rutland Court, Haverhill, endured an anxious and frightening pregnancy once they were told their expected twins were mono-amniotic.

Monoamniotic twins are identical and develop inside the same amniotic sac, creating a greater risk of health complications.

These types of twins are extremely rare, occurring in only one of 10,000 to 20,000 pregnancies.

Louise said: "It was so frightening knowing they were inside of me completely together, touching each other with a risk of their cords getting tangled up."

"I knew there was nothing I could do and they were completely in God's hands."

From 24 weeks, Louise was having one scan and three monitoring sessions a week and from 28 weeks was an inpatient at the Rosie Maternity Hospital in Cambridge.

The twins' umbilical cords had become tangled from 20 weeks, and while this was not posing an immediate threat then, by 29

New stats shine light on sexual abuse problem

THERE were 383 recorded sex offences against children in Suffolk last year, including rape, indecency and incest, new figures have revealed.

The statistics came to light yesterday after the NSPCC lodged a Freedom of Information request with every police force in England and Wales.

Most reports during 2009/10 concerned children aged between 12 and 15, but 28 victims in the county were of pre-school age and 119 were aged 11 or under.

Worryingly, the numbers also show that 93 of the known suspects were under-18 themselves.

Dan Russell, NSPCC head of service in the region, said: "Thousands of people come forward every year to report sex crimes against children but many victims are too young to ask for help. Others are too scared to tell anyone about their suffering until years later."

Suffolk police's figures are fairly low, with the largest number of offences being recorded by London's Metropolitan Police Authority, with 3,672, followed by 1,531 from West Midlands and 1,205 in West Yorkshire.

However, Suffolk's figure are more than double those of neighbouring Cambridgeshire, with only 148 cases.

Nationwide, there was an increase of 2,000 recorded cases of sexual abuse in 2009/10 on figures for the previous year - leading the NSPCC to declare that at least 64 children are sexually abused every day in England and Wales.

Mr Russell added: "The rise in recorded sex offences against children is a real concern and we need to find ways to help victims and change the behaviour of young offenders."

Speedy tiny tots take a spin on top new trikes

CHILDREN at a local pre-school had their wishes granted after a supermarket donated money for three new trikes.

Tesco in Haverhill gave the Stepping Stones under-5s nursery £120 to buy the toys for the excited youngsters.

Claire Bowden, community champion for the supermarket giant in the town, said she was delighted to be able to provide the funds.

She said: "Tesco try to do good within the community and it is my pleasure to hand out money to worthy causes, and it is great for the kids to have the new trikes to enjoy."

The money came from the store's national budget for helping community groups, organisations and causes in areas where shops are run.

Elaine McManus, manager of Stepping Stones, thanked Tesco for providing the much-needed items.

Save lives – give blood

NEW blood donors are urgently needed as supplies drop off during the summer. The National Blood Service has made the appeal to Haverhill residents and will be holding donor sessions at the Haverhill Arts Centre in High Street, Haverhill, in the coming weeks. Sessions will run from 1pm to 3.15pm and 4.30pm to 7pm on June 15 and 29, and from 10am to 12.30pm and 2pm until 4pm on August 1.

First time donors should be aged 17 to 65, weigh at least 7 stone 12 lbs and be in good health. There is no upper age limit for donors who have donated in the last two years.

For more information, visit www.blood.co.uk or call 0300 123 2323.

Carers rewarded for child support

PROUD foster carers from all walks of life gathered to receive awards for their dedication to supporting and protecting vulnerable children.

A special presentation evening at Ipswich Town Football Club celebrated the success stories of foster children and their carers and praised the strong relationships developed through the Suffolk Fostering Service.

The event was part of Suffolk's Foster Care Fortnight which ends on Sunday and

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

featured foster parents from across the county, including Jackie and Adrian Hart, from Haverhill, who have been fostering for five years.

Jackie and her 42-year-old husband have one long term fostered son and one short term fostered son. They also have an adopted son and one birth son.

The 56-year-old mother said: "I was surprised when I received the call but it was a really nice do and it is lovely to feel appreciated."

"There is an excellent suport network in Haverhill for foster parents - we meet on the last Monday of every month and help each other with any problems.

"You can't get a more fulfilling occupation in life than bringing up a child but I understand that people need to think carefully about it because it is not an easy thing to take people into your home."

"We decided to go into respite care first to make sure it was really what we wanted to do, and we soon discovered that it was so rewarding."

County councillor Graham Newman, portfolio holder for children and young people, said: "This year's awards provide an opportunity to celebrate the success of foster families across the county and inspire local people to consider fostering as a serious option for them."

"It was fantastic to listen to the many heart-warming, encouraging and inspiring stories from carers and children who have benefited from the fostering service for many years."

Garden gates swing open to raise vital funds for village church

A VILLAGE will once again open its gardens in aid of a local church.

Twelve of Ridgewell's finest gardens will be on show over the weekend of June 4 and 5 from noon until 5pm to help support St Laurence Church.

The church will also play host to live music and a garden display, while its newly restored bells will be rung on such an occasion for 100 years.

Homemade lunches and cream teas will also be available.

Programmes cost £3 per adult and are the tickets for the day, with accompanied children entering gardens free of charge.

weeks and three days they developed acute twin-to-twin transfusion syndrome, meaning they had to be delivered immediately.

Louise was scanned and taken to the delivery room where she delivered two girls - Lerato, 3 lbs and Layla 3.1 lbs - within an hour of each other on February 9.

Mr Christoph Lees, a consultant in obstetrics and foetal-maternal medicine at the Rosie Hospital explained the circumstances of the birth.

He said: "Louise's situation with the twins was very unusual.

"I was very pleased that we were able to deliver the twins at the right time to allow them to be as healthy as they are now."

At three weeks old, the girls were transferred to the high-dependency babies special care unit at West Suffolk Hospital and finally arrived at their home in Haverhill two weeks ago.

Louise added: "I am so happy that they are now home and don't have any health problems at all. They are little miracles."

School hosts summer holiday fun time

CHILDREN have celebrated the start of summer with a week of activities ending in a school fun day.

More than 240 pupils at Castle Hill Middle School in School Lane, Haverhill, enjoyed playing games in sumo suits, as gladiators and on a huge surfboard machine, as well as seeing a hot air balloon, fire truck and police car close up.

The school, which is due to change into a lower school when the education system in Suffolk changes from three-tier to two-tier, brought their usual summer fair forward ahead of the upheaval.

Fast food vans and an ice cream kiosk were also at the school, but the highlight was the release of hundreds of balloons into the sky - each of which carried memories of pupils.

Siblings, parents and school governors also joined in the fun.

Becky Baldwin, an art teacher at Castle Hill, said: "This is the conclusion of a week of celebration.

"Next week is the children's last here and we wanted to do something special. We have had a visit to Chessington theme park, taken part in African drumming, had swim sessions and had owls in assembly."

Miss Baldwin added her thanks to Owl Time, Abbeycroft Leisure, Chessington World of Adventures, and Screen Work in Haverhill who helped design special T-shirts for staff and pupils.

DIY firm's close down sparks jobs concern

DOZENS of jobs could be at risk after the administrators of a struggling DIY and gardening outlet announced closing down proceedings.

The Focus DIY chain, which employs 33 members of staff at its branch in Cambridge Retail Park in Park Road, Haverhill, have started their final price-cutting sales at 178 stores across the UK and around 3,000 jobs are expected to go.

The administrators from accountancy firm Ernst & Young have not been able to acquire a buyer for the whole business, meaning that even at branches being taken over, workers will need to re-apply for their jobs with no guarantee of success through information was confidential at this stage.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Rival DIY groups Kingfisher, owner of B&Q, and Travis Perkins, who plan to re-brand the stores as Wickes, as well as discount homewares retailer B&M Bargains, have all been confirmed as the interested parties, with their purchases potentially safe-guarding up to 900 jobs.

However, Ernst & Young have not been able to acquire a buyer for the whole business, meaning that even at branches being taken over, workers will need to re-apply for their jobs with no guarantee of success through the process.

Simon Allport, one of the administrators, said: "We have been working hard to sell the business as a going concern and to maximise value for creditors.

"While we have been successful in securing up to 900 jobs from the sale of 55 stores in three separate deals, finding a buyer for the whole of the business has not been possible."

Focus fell into administration in early May after it was hit by low consumer confidence and a weak housing market, affecting sales and profits.

Anne Gower, district and town councillor for Haverhill North ward, said: "It is awful when people lose their jobs in Haverhill, and especially when there are not many around in this economic climate.

"When I have been in the store, the staff have always been fantastic and it seemed to me that local people were using the place a lot.

"I wish them all the best. Although it is not going to help short term, we have the new retail project going ahead on the old Project Office site and that will create more jobs in the near future."

Stock is now due to be liquidated during the closing-down sale and members of staff are expected to face redundancy.

An announcement is due to be made on the identity of the branches to be taken over in the coming weeks.

Police in hunt for 'flasher'

POLICE are hunting a man after he exposed himself to a member of the public next to a churchyard.

The incident took place in Crowland Road, Haverhill, at around 5.50am last Sunday.

A spokeswoman for Suffolk Police said: "The man exposed himself in the street to a 37-year-old woman.

"He jumped out of bushes before walking along Crowland Road and Camps Road into the churchyard.

"He is described as white, in his late 20s to mid 30s, 5 foot 7 inches tall, with strawberry blond hair and was wearing a red and white checked shirt."

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Thomas Darville at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Community picnic for half-term

A FREE community picnic for families will take place during half term to celebrate national Family Week.

People are encouraged to bring food to the event at Ingham Road open space behind the Chalkstone Community Centre in Haverhill, which will feature a bouncy castle, face painting, craft activities, football, rounders and a tug of war in an effort to inspire locals to come and have fun together.

The day gets under way at 11am on Wednesday June 1 and lasts until 3pm.

PAINTING, decorating and brickwork students were among the winners at an annual awards do at West Suffolk College.

The ceremony recognised the progress students have made while studying different trades, with Nathan picking up the trophy for being the outstanding first year student in painting and decorating, while Owain Insole took the prize for second years. Meanwhile, Adam Hudson won as a second year student in brickwork studies.

The awards were presented by Johnnie Sams and Christine Abrey-Cottell from Ridgeons, a timber merchants from Bury.

Christine said: "Supporting events like these is a vital part of our commitment to links with local organisations.

"Students deserve recognition for their success and the awards ceremony provides Ridgeons with an opportunity to share in this."

Poverty study names Suffolk

AREAS of Suffolk are as much in need of local and national financial support as some of the most deprived communities in the UK, new research has revealed.

The study from Cambridge University, commissioned by The Suffolk Foundation, has been dubbed the Hidden Needs report and hopes to raise awareness about the scale and nature of social deprivation in Suffolk.

The findings are being used by the Foundation – an independent grant-maker to local charities and community groups – to demonstrate to funding bodies that some communities do experience high levels of social disadvantage despite the perception of Suffolk as affluent and comfortable.

The report from members of the Housing and Planning Research department stated that 78,000 people in Suffolk live in there is a lot of real wealth in the county, as well as real deprivation and disadvantage."

In the past, Suffolk charities have often reported they are overlooked for funding as there is a misconception that Suffolk "has no real need".

Keith Whitton, director at the Anglia Care Trust, welcomed the report.

He said: "This is exactly what we have been waiting for – an independent, clear evidence-base that will strengthen our funding bids when seeking national funding to support Suffolk's most vulnerable communities."

Jane Storey, Suffolk County Council's acting leader, added: "Any research that sheds real light on the support our local communities need is only ever going to benefit Suffolk."

"We agree with the foundation that external funders often overlook Suffolk as an area with complex social needs."

Women accused of assault near school

TWO women have appeared in court charged in connection with an alleged assault outside a school.

Katie Sloan, 28, and Carol Sloan, 56, both pleaded not guilty to assault at a hearing of Ipswich Crown Court last Friday.

The attack is alleged to have taken place outside Place Farm Community Primary School in Camps Road, Haverhill, in November last year, and involved another woman who was injured during the incident, it is claimed.

No date has been set for the trial of Katie Sloan, of Castle Walk, Haverhill, and Carol Sloan of Broadcroft Close, Haverhill.

Judge John Devaux told the women that they would continue to be granted bail until their next court appearance.

Wolfie's on target with fans

A DARTS superstar took on fans and friends in a charity evening at a local club.

Martin Adams, the BDO reigning World Champion, turned out at Haverhill's Ex-Servicemen's Club to take part in a series of exhibition matches in aid of the Cystic Fibrosis Charity, with darts fans queuing up to see their hero.

The darts legend, nicknamed Wolfie, took on local players and competition winners in the event, organised by the Club's darts team, raising £479.

Local players, Steve Haywood and Simon Wells were the only challengers who managed a win against them.

Meanwhile, Gary Flynn and Sean Wright were the "callers" on the night, keeping the crowd informed and entertained.

Club Secretary Steve Russell said after the event: "It was great to see Wolfie entertaining his fans."

"He really made the effort to make sure everyone enjoyed the night."

Ice cream kiosk is burgled

AN ICE cream kiosk has been targeted in the latest case of petty theft in Haverhill.

An ice cream machine and items of stock were stolen from the hut on Haverhill recreation ground off Camps Road after offenders forced open shutters during the break-in between 2am and 2.15am last Tuesday.

A spokeswoman for Suffolk Police said: "Two people in dark clothing were seen next to the kiosk and a white Vauxhall van with an orange light was seen nearby in Chauntry Road shortly before the break-in was discovered."

"Anyone who saw the people are asked to call Sgt Darren Lamboll at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100."

Mick Driver, who owns the kiosk, has offered a £300 reward for the safe return of the stock and machine, which he said would have needed more than one person to move.

Groups put spotlight on youth employment

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

LOCAL groups in Haverhill are uniting to help young people find their way into work.

The new initiative called Supporting Young People in Haverhill was launched last Friday at the town's Arts Centre in High Street.

Backers hope it is the start of a successful future for youngsters and employers alike.

Candice Danligh, from Job Centre Plus in Haverhill, was one of the driving forces behind the project.

She said: "Young people do not just suddenly become unemployed – things happen during their lives that contribute to it."

"What we have done is to invite different organisations to come together and find out what we can do at school, in college or in the job centre to help young people find employment."

"We need help from employers in the area to provide work experience, mentoring and apprenticeship opportunities, as well as work trials."

There have already been work clubs set up at Samuel Ward Academy and Castle Manor School, in which pupils can get advice and "bridge the gap between education and employment."

The launch event saw a number of presentations from local young people and different help groups, while West Suffolk Conservative MP Matthew Hancock and Haverhill councillor Anne Gower were on hand to offer their support. Local employers also attended.

For more information on how employers can help, contact Candice Danligh on 079719955078.

Medals haul for martial artists

MEMBERS of a Korean martial arts club have achieved an "incredible" medal haul at prestigious national championships.

The Haverhill Tang Soo Do Korean Martial Arts Club collected 13 medals at the 33rd British Central Championships in Watford, performing in front of the 10th Dan Grand Master Lee Kang Uk.

Craig Phillips, a 2nd Dan and instructor for the Haverhill group, said: "More than 250 students from all over the country, including Ireland and Scotland, took part in the championships amid fierce competition."

Students from Haverhill took part in the tournament and won 13 medals which is an incredible achievement.

"We could not hope for a better performance shown by everyone that took part. I would like to congratulate everyone and thank the families who came to support the club."

The tournament comprised of individual forms in the morning followed by individual free fighting in the afternoon.

Jason Miller, 5th Dan Master, added: "Our instructor 2nd Dan Craig Phillips and Haverhill student 1st Dan Senior Steven Swaby earned two of the five places to represent Cambridgeshire for the evening's team fighting tournament, with the side retaining their championship against some very experienced British team fighters."

Sessions take place on Tuesdays at the Leiston Community Centre in Leiston Road, Haverhill, at 7pm and on Thursdays at 6.30pm. The first lesson is free.

Time to mark schools' role

Sir, I write in response to your rather small item advising your readers about the Haverhill Middle Schools' exhibition at the arts centre. It seems as though the end of the middle school era in Haverhill is passing without much fanfare.

At Parkway, we are looking at this time with sadness but with a great deal of pride in our achievements over more than three decades, and I am sure that those at Chalkstone and Castle Hill feel the same. We are holding a week to celebrate the legacy of care and service to the children aged 9 to 13, with events for the children and parents.

As well as two school plays being performed on Monday and Tuesday at the arts centre, we are holding a whole school multisports day, an arts day, a school dance/party and holding a concert with many returning musicians and poets from among our alumni. In addition, at the end of term we are inviting staff and friends of the school from among our governors and PTA to a reception to give thanks to them for their continued support and to celebrate together with pride the very positive educational experience which we have combined to give to the children of Haverhill and the surrounding villages.

I do not want to comment here on the process of re-organisation, but feel very strongly that our middle schools have provided a varied, lively, committed and altogether splendid experience for thousands of children through the dedication of the people who have worked in the schools – the teachers and all the other staff and parents. We all hope that this continues and wish the primary schools and high school good fortune with their now expanded role. However, as a teacher, I feel that the middle schools have given our children a very special and rewarding educational and caring time throughout the years and will be missed. Through your pages I would want to salute the middle schools of Haverhill and wish all their staff and students good luck in the future.

Many thanks for your support

Sir, We would like to thank the people of Haverhill North who voted for us in the recent borough council elections.

Although we didn't succeed in being elected as borough councillors the response, both on the doorsteps and in the polls, indicates that only the Labour Party can be the people's voice in these tough times.

As your local town councillors we

MEMORIES

■ THIS week's picture, taken from our archives, shows a group of young girls. Do you recognise anyone in the picture or know what the event was? Do you know where and when it was taken?

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, led to this response from Susan Barton: "The lad on the right is Greg Ross, the middle one is Tom Barton and the one on the right is Jo Barton, who are my sons. They had just played in a golf tournament representing Castle Manor School and had won. Would it be round about 1985 or 1986?" Mandy Cox wrote: "I can't remember all the names but the boy on the left is Joe Barton. I went to school with him, he will be 40 this year. I think the photo would be about 1998."

Matt Thorpe said: "I went to school with Jo Barton. He is standing next to Tom Barton, his brother, and they were both very tidy golfers, and as I remember their father used to be head greenkeeper at Haverhill Golf Club back in the early 80s."

Thanks for your responses. The photo was taken in November 1986.

Royal wedding inspires children's homework

DEDICATED pupils spent their holidays working on extended homework projects with a royal theme.

Key stage two students from Westfield Community Primary School in Manor Road, Haverhill, kept busy by designing and researching royal masterpieces in tribute to the new Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

Year 5s designed a royal carriage, Year 4s provided models and information on an alternate venue for the wedding, while Year 3 children created a suitable cake.

Prizes were awarded for the overall winner, the most creative and the most informative in each group.

Diane Pannell, a Year 5 teacher, said: "This is the first year that I have been involved with the extended homework since joining Westfield and I have been amazed by the commitment and dedication of both the children and their parents."

Children were able to acquire assistance from families for the demanding task.

Rosie Campbell, headteacher, added: "Once again this has been a marvellous effort. It's a real family event and all the work has been displayed for everyone to see."

The overall winner was Reiss Mason from Year 4 for a model of the reception hall.

Westfield Primary will be moving into a new building next to Samuel Ward in Chalkstone Way this summer.

Plan for growth, companies told

A BUSINESS leader from Suffolk has urged Haverhill firms to put the spectre of the recession behind them and prepare for growth.

Paul Winter, chairman of the Institute of Directors Suffolk and Chief Executive of Ipswich Building, will hammer out his message at a special lunch event next month.

Mr Winter has been confirmed as the special guest at the June 29 Haverhill Chamber of Commerce's Business Networking Lunch.

Open to all local businesses, the topic of the lunch at Haverhill Golf Club will be, "if you've got to grow, grow now", with Mr Winter encouraging businesses to prepare to expand after the recession.

The successful businessman, now in his 60s, began his career with the Building Society in 1982 and moved through various roles before becoming chief executive in 2007.

He said: "I'm looking forward to meeting businesses in Haverhill and sharing with them our vision of growth for the future.

"The economic downturn has hit many industries very hard but we must not let this blinker our view of the future – and planning to grow now makes good business sense."

Sarah Howard, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, added: "This is an event that will be relevant for all businesses in and around the town, from sole traders to large corporations, and is an excellent chance to network."

Also speaking at the event will be Martyn Wagner, vice principal at West Suffolk College, who will discuss the need to improve customer service in time for the London 2012 Olympic Games.

Tickets to the event are £22 plus VAT for members or £28 plus VAT for non-members, which include a two-course lunch with coffee and mints.

Man charged with pepper spray possession

A MAN has been charged under the Firearms Act following warrants executed in Cambridgeshire and Suffolk last month.

Kyle Lyons of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, is accused of possessing nine pepper sprays and 43 stun guns, as well as growing cannabis.

Two properties were searched by police on Wednesday, April 6, in West Wickham's High Street in Cambridgeshire and at the 20-year-old's home in Sperling Drive.

A quantity of incapacitant sprays, stun gun devices and cannabis plants were seized at the West Wickham address.

In September 2010, an earlier search had been carried out at the West Wickham property, and incapacitant sprays and stun guns were seized on that occasion.

Lyons is due before Cambridge magistrates court tomorrow to answer the new charges.

Balloon gang: charity walkers join forces to raise money for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

CP

Walkers step out for charity

WALKERS from local slimming groups joined forces to take part in a charity walk.

Members of Slimming World branches in Haverhill and Clare got together to raise cash for the Teenage Cancer Trust while continuing to keep fit and healthy to reach their weight loss targets.

The group of 25 walkers of all ages and two dogs met in Tesco car park in Haverhill town centre and hiked along the old railway line to Sturmer and back in an enjoyable 5-mile round trip.

Tania Watson, from the branch in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, which runs classes every Wednesdays at 5.30pm and 7.30pm, said the weather was kind and the day went well.

She said: "The event was a great success and we will certainly do something else in the future."

"We raised more than £100 for the Teenage Cancer Trust, which brings our total this year to over £300 so far."

The fundraiser was one of a number of events taking place during 2011 which makes up the community weight loss programme, Let's Beat It Together, helping to bring healthy eating to the community.

The initiative in 2010 saw Slimming World members in Suffolk lose a staggering 3,190 stone, but Suffolk's obesity rates remain around 41 per cent.

Miss Watson added her thanks to David Jenkins who took over the local groups' organisation while she was training at head office to become a team developer.

For more information about local classes, open to all ages and sexes, call Miss Watson on (01440) 706143 or 07974565229, or email taniaw@live.co.uk

Centenary with blooms

THE centenary of one of Britain's most-loved and iconic writing paper brands will be celebrated at the Chelsea Flower Show.

Basildon Bond, based in Red Lodge, will be present at this year's big show at Royal Hospital, Chelsea, where the Basildon Bond Centenary Garden is featuring in the new Artisan Gardens category, in which designers are asked to use natural, sustainably sourced materials in an artistic manner.

The event runs until May 28.

The Basildon Bond garden, within the Small Gardens section, features a mill structure made from reclaimed bricks with a water feature providing sound and movement.

'Suspicious' car blaze

A CAR fire on Monday was believed to have been started deliberately.

The blaze at Marlborough Court, on Headland Avenue, Haverhill, seriously damaged the vehicle and spread to a nearby wooden fence. A fire service spokeswoman said the flames, which were reported shortly after 3.40am, were "believed suspicious". Police have been informed.

Bonfire gets out of hand

AN out-of-control bonfire triggered a callout for emergency services.

Fire crews were called to Chalkstone Way in Haverhill shortly before 5.55pm last Friday.

Shop owner's anger over herbal ruling

A HEALTH food store boss has likened a new European Union directive to "using a sledgehammer to crack a nut".

Chele Martin, owner of the independent Naturally You shop in High Street, Clare, has slammed the European law - which requires natural supplements to undergo testing before they are used - as expensive and unnecessary.

The introduction of the Traditional Herbal Products Directive (THMPD) in 2004 meant that all herbal medicinal products must obtain an authorisation to be sold within the EU, with companies also required to prove the products they are using have been in use within member states for at least 15 or 30 years, or 30 years if outside.

The directive, which aims to avoid cases of harmful potentially faulty drugs sweeping the European market, gave retailers the opportunity to sell stock up until April 30 of this year, but now regulations are much tighter.

Mrs Martin said: "The directive is discriminatory against herbs from outside the EU to the detriment of Chinese and ayurvedic traditions and is prohibitively expensive for the low-run traditional indigenous herbs."

The directive will force customers underground to buy their herbal supplements online from potentially unscrupulous suppliers."

A petition to Save Herbal Medicine has secured nearly half a million signatures from supporters in just two days calling for the suspension of the directive.

Mixed emotions as school shuts

TEACHERS, students and governors from a school's past and present attended a special open day to mark the end of an era.

Clements Primary School in Clarendon Way, Haverhill, held the event days before its doors were closed for the last time, with pupils getting ready to move into a new building in Greenfields Way.

More than 100 people turned out to reminisce about their time at the school, which has played a vital role in the community since 1967.

One of the highlights of the day was the recovery of a time capsule buried in the school grounds in 2000. It contained pictures of staff drawn by children, a school tea towel, photos of classes and a uniform sweat shirt.

Lesley Farrow, headmistress, said it was a day of mixed emotions.

She said: "It was both an exciting and a sad time for the people who have spent great times in these buildings.

"People enjoyed reminiscing and looking through old photo albums.

"It was a successful day."

Staff are due to arrive in the new school next week but pupils will attend for the first time on June 6.

Honours: Haverhill and District Rotary Club president Duncan Howlett, back row left, with the youngsters who were awarded certificates for their work in the community. CP

Community spirit reaps rewards

SEVEN students from local schools have been congratulated for their contribution to the community.

The pupils from Haverhill and the surrounding areas were presented with framed certificates and awards by Duncan Howlett, the president of Haverhill and District Rotary Club, at a special event on May 16.

The youngsters had been nominated by teachers and staff for their work to improve life not just in school but also in the wider community, which involved roles such as sitting on school councils, mentoring younger students, running various clubs and being an ambassador for their school.

The students recognised were Ronald Dadds and Lauren Sullivan from Samuel Ward, Andrew Watts and Jade Sharp from Castle Manor, Georgia Gibson from Castle Hill

Middle, Scott Bishop from Parkway Middle and Joel Brinkley from Clare Middle School.

Tony Bayley from Haverhill Rotary Club said: "Without exception, these students all showed a very positive attitude in all they did, they put others before themselves and have earned the respect of everyone with whom they came into contact."

"Our thanks also go to the representatives from the schools for nominating the students and for giving their time to attend the awards."

Meanwhile, Wayne Lloyd, a teacher from Castle Manor, thanked Robert Haylock and John Senior from the Rotary Club for arranging the awards and hosting the evening, and said such awards can make a big difference to individuals when applying for further education or employment.

Housing group sets priorities

AN EXTENSIVE tenants' consultation has forced a housing partnership to rethink its community priorities.

Havebury Housing Partnership, which manages hundreds of properties in Haverhill and the surrounding areas, this week announced its pledges to residents for the coming year after gathering the viewpoints of many of its users.

The affordable homes provider received 1,500 responses from across the region, and these have formed the basis of a number of actions to take place by March next year.

Karen Mayhew, Havebury's chief executive, said: "We went to village fêtes, held days in rural areas, knocked on doors and posted out questionnaires.

"We also held focus groups, attended clubs and even spent the day at a local supermarket."

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"The offers we settled upon were all based on what our tenants told us was most important to them."

To help outline the plans, the partnership, which has an office in Manor Road, Haverhill, has drawn up a 'Local Offers' document with five sections – tenant involvement and empowerment, home standard, tenancy standard, neighbourhood and community standard and supported accommodation.

One of the key promises is a commitment to address anti-social behaviour, which has been under considerable scrutiny over recent weeks after a flat in the town's Strasbourg Square was closed by police after its tenants caused serious problems for neighbours.

Mrs Mayhew said: "We co-operated with Suffolk police to obtain a closure notice on 4 Strasbourg Square in Haverhill following persistent anti-social behaviour over the past year.

"Our tenants should not have to contend with such behaviour and we will always support legal action to protect them from the inconsiderate actions of a minority."

Other promises by the non-profit association, which currently manages 6,000 homes, include improving transparency around rent increases and maintenance arrangements. Tenants also asked for specialist support for sheltered housing residents to be explored.

Mrs Mayhew added: "Throughout the year we will also ask residents for further opinions about our services to shape more promises for the following year."

"Our tenants are at the heart of everything we do and it is vital to ensure that their needs are met and their opinions heard."

Take him as red: Scales's visit to Coupals Primary School came at the end of pupils' revision for tests. CP

Classroom becomes dragon's den

A DRAGON made an appearance at a local primary school to reward children who had been studying for tests.

Scales dropped in to Coupals Primary School in Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, last week to hand out golden tickets, giving the children discounted entry to the town's indoor play area. The mascot for Haverhill Leisure Centre, where the Kid City play attraction is, will visit the school every month to reward a different class, with teachers choosing which hardworking class is most deserving.

Charles Hardingham, headteacher at Coupals, said: "It was a most welcome visit for our hard working Year 2 class who have been ploughing through tests for the last few weeks. We are most grateful to the Leisure Centre for thinking of us."

The £650,000 play area opened in 2009 and is designed for under 5s and for 5 to 12 year olds. It includes a speed slide, ball pool, café and lounge area. Laura Flowers, the centre's assistant manager, said: "We managed to disrupt a whole school with excitement."

"The children were so pleased to see Scales and it was a really nice way to reward the children for all their hard work."

Teen burglar gets custody

A TEENAGER who broke into the Haverhill home of an elderly woman is in custody after breaching a suspended sentence order.

Damien Peters, 18, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court last Friday to admit an attempted robbery.

Peters, of no fixed address, had been sentenced at the same court in January to 12 months in a Young Offenders Institution suspended for 18 months after he pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary.

He had burgled a house in Yeldham Close, Haverhill, at about 2am on April 10 last year while the elderly woman occupant was inside but unaware of what was taking place.

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A vigilant neighbour who heard suspicious noises chased Peters and grabbed him in a head-lock, but Peters wriggled free and fled, leaving a trail of stolen items behind him.

Peters was linked by police to the break-in through DNA analysis of blood smears on some of the items dropped as he ran off.

The court was told that Peters had committed the burglary to help fund his drug addiction.

At the hearing in January, Mr Recorder David Anderson told Peters: "I think you are bright enough to realise that if this sort of behaviour continues you are going to spend a very considerable amount of your life behind bars."

Last week, the court was told Peters had been arrested following an attempted robbery in Great Cornard, near Sudbury on March 8.

The victim had been a 17-year-old boy who was approached at 7.30pm that evening in Pot Kiln Road by Peters.

Peters pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted robbery and also admitted being in breach of the suspended sentence order.

Judge John Devaux sentenced Peters to seven months in a Young Offenders' Institution for the attempted robbery and activated 11 months of the suspended sentence order, making a total custodial sentence of 18 months.

I had to learn to walk again: now I'm looking to the future

Looking to the future: Tom McKenzie.

TOM McKenzie is every inch the successful man. A happily married 30-year-old from Linton, he runs a thriving recruitment business and has two beautiful children. But getting to this point has been a battle.

When he was just 6 years old, Tom had surgery to save his leg from amputation; since then he's had a total of 48 operations, meaning much of his life has been spent in hospital.

"Even now my dad says to me 'if we'd have known that you were going to have to have so many, I'm not sure we'd have still gone through with the original operation,'" says Tom. "But you can't live your life on ifs, buts, maybes. You just live with what you've got, and adapt."

The story begins when Tom was 5. Skidding around on icy leaves with his friends one day, he fell badly, breaking his left leg. After six weeks in traction it seemed to heal, but six months later Tom's mum Patricia spotted a bruise above his knee, and then noticed he was dragging his leg when he walked. At 6 years old, Tom McKenzie became the youngest patient to have pioneering bone replacement surgery. In total, he has undergone 48 operations – and defied doctors' predictions that he would never be a dad. He talks to EMMA HIGGINBOTHAM where the operation had been done. "I was just under a week away from having my amputation when we were booked in. They hadn't done a bone replacement on anyone so young before; the person they'd done it on before was in their 20s," says Tom. "I was only 6."

"I had to have chemotherapy, but to be honest there're only parts I can remember; I think your consciousness blocks a lot of your memory out," says Tom.

After 18 months of intensive chemo, the tumour seemed to have disappeared, but Tom's parents were told that the only way of being sure was to amputate his leg.

By chance, Patricia came across a newspaper article about someone in a similar situation: they'd been saved from amputation by having an artificial bone inserted.

It seemed to be the answer to their prayers, and they contacted the Royal Orthopaedic Hospital in Birmingham, a great hospital; there was a real family-type atmosphere, and that really helps the healing process."

As he grew, Tom had to have many more operations; every six months ball bearings would be inserted into the prosthesis to lengthen it. But problems like infections and dislocations all meant additional surgery, and each time he had to learn to walk from scratch.

"Inevitably I was bullied at school, mainly because I didn't have any hair when I was having chemotherapy, and then because I couldn't walk properly. You do get called names, but I didn't really feel anything, to be honest," he grins. "Everybody gets called names."

Did he ever feel sorry for himself? "I suppose I did, but there's always someone else worse off – you'd see someone who had had their leg amputated."

Road to recovery: under sedation in hospital, above, and learning to walk again, right.

became a part of life for Tom. He had lessons at his bedside, and made close friends with fellow patients who were going through the same thing. And Tom admits that, in his younger days, he assumed he'd eventually die there: "A couple of my really close friends died, so I thought well, the end of this is that I'm not going to come out."

And when Tom was 14, that almost happened. "I just had an operation, and when I came home I said I wanted to do my SATs," he recalls. "I got to the school hall and had my leg up on a chair, and it felt like I kept getting cramp, but 100 times worse than cramp, with pains shooting up and down my leg."

Tom couldn't finish the exam and went home in agony. "I was in the bath for hours, because it was the only thing that would calm it down. The local doctors said that it was just because of the operation, but I knew something wasn't right."

It wasn't. Tom had deep vein thrombosis, and it was spreading fast. Eventually he was rushed to hospital "and they said it could've been fatal if we'd left it another 24 hours. So I had to have another operation for that."

The surgery continued, with Tom eventually having a hip replacement. Each time he'd bravely grin and bear it, but one day it all became too much.

"I must've been about 16 or 17. I had an operation, and I was about to go home, but the wound wasn't healing."

When pus started oozing from his leg, Tom realised it had become infected: "They put me on strong antibiotics, and then they had to take the bone out, clean it, and put it back in again, wrapped in antibiotics to dissolve within the leg to try and kill off anything that was in there."

"That was the worst time that I've ever had. I'd gone through all of these operations, and then all of a sudden the leg could've gone anyway because of the infection. The doctor came in and said 'Look Tom, I'm not sure how long we can carry on doing this.'

Tom had to spend three dark months in hospital: "I just wanted it over, either way. I was being sick every day because of the antibiotics, I was dizzy all the time, and I was missing out on so much."

"I remember saying to my dad: 'I just don't want it any more.' There was no light at the end of the tunnel; all I could see was either amputation or me never getting out."

But although amputation may have seemed like a good option, Tom could never have had a false leg: "They would have to amputate to the top of the hip, so there was nothing to attach it to," he explains. "I'd have been on crutches or in a wheelchair the whole time."

Fortunately Tom made a full recovery, but not long after he faced another setback when blood tests revealed that, because of the damage done by the chemotherapy, he only had a 10 per cent chance of having children.

"I was devastated, absolutely devastated," he says.

He needn't have worried: his girlfriend Becky – now his wife – fell pregnant soon after they'd started seeing each other. "It was the best thing that ever happened," grins Tom, whose dad to Rosie, 8, and Charlie, 5.

It's now been five years since Tom had an operation, but his problems are ongoing. Tom's left leg is six centimetres shorter than his right, meaning that he suffers from chronic back pain.

But for Tom the worse part isn't the pain, it's the fact that he can't do certain things with Charlie, like playing football: "I can only watch him kick a ball about in the garden, and that's really hard."

Tom has just done a tandem skydive to raise money for a new playroom at the hospital where he spent so much of his childhood.

"I wouldn't have got through it if it hadn't been for Birmingham; it was a home from home," he said. "And even now I go back twice a year for check-ups and intensive physiotherapy to strengthen the leg."

And Tom says he can't thank the hospital enough for what they've done for him. "I feel like I'm the positive side of it all," he explains. "I do face problems daily: I can't stand up for long, I can't help Becky much in the house, and I have to grit my teeth when I walk to work. But I've got my own business, I'm married, I've got two kids – this is what can happen if you can battle through it."

"I never really sat there and said why me?" he adds. "I'm not going to live for yesterday and what could have happened, I look to tomorrow and what can happen."

Nursing pair plan days out

A DAY at the races, craft, music and coffee mornings are some of the activities provided by a Haverhill-based company which aims to help those who feel socially excluded.

COPE arranges opportunities for people to engage in meaningful, person centred activities.

The group will head to Newmarket on Thursday, July 7 to enjoy Ladies' Day, an example of one of the regular leisure activities on offer.

Jill Moss, 53, from Ash Grove, set up the service alongside her former colleague from Wisbech Hospital, Nemmi Seneviratne.

Both women are learning disability registered nurses who were concerned with the lack of opportunity to participate in activities.

Jill said: "Our service is available to people experiencing problems due to learning disabilities, dementia or any reason which leads to social exclusion."

"People are matched with volunteers who have similar interests to help them feel less isolated, get them out of the house and increase their self esteem. For more information call Jill on 07890 184631."

Stakes are high for hospice fundraiser

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A POPULAR money-making competition between local businesses – all in the name of charity – has attracted a famous backer.

Time is running out for companies in Haverhill and the surrounding areas to sign up for the 2011 Towergate Accumulator Challenge, in which competitors try to turn a £50 stake into as much money as possible for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

And this year's challenge is being supported by Claire Young, star of BBC1's hit show The Apprentice.

The entrepreneur, motivational speaker and finalist from series four said she was thrilled to be able to support such a "great" initiative.

The three-month challenge launches on Thursday, June 2, when participating businesses will each be handed £50 to multiply into as much cash as they can through any form of fundraising activity they wish – as long as it is legal and fun.

Claire – who says she is passionate about promoting enterprise among young people and was the guest of honour at the recent Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Awards at Chilford Hall – said: "My time on The Apprentice taught me to go for it, do my best, take risks and challenge boundaries – qualities those taking part in this year's

'Go for it': Claire Young is backing the Towergate Accumulator Challenge, which calls on local businesses to take a £50 stake and turn it into tonnes of cash for St Nicholas Hospice care.

Towergate Accumulator Challenge should consider when planning how to make the most of their £50 stake.

"I'm happy to be able to support the challenge as it not only offers businesses excellent networking opportunities but it encourages teamwork and entrepreneurship, at the same time as raising funds for St Nicholas Hospice Care."

"It's a great initiative as everyone wins."

Haverhill firms already gearing up for the challenge include C2C Wines, The Gallery, Cineworld Haverhill, Abbeycroft Leisure and Kedington-based Travel Counsellors.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is a charitable organisation which operates a number of care centres and a telephone advice line to help patients cope with terminal illness, and support families during a difficult time.

Abby Mayes, a hospice fundraiser, said: "The more businesses that sign up, the more fun the Accumulator Challenge will be. It's not too late to get involved."

Last year, Glemsford accountants Paul Donno & Co won the challenge after raising nearly £3,000 from their £50 stake, while the 2010 event raised £40,000 all together, after event sponsors Towergate Risk Solutions matched the total that the challenge had raised.

To sign up, contact Abby Mayes on (01284) 715597 or email abby.mayes@stnh.org.uk

'Handling' man sent to prison

A MAN has been sentenced to eight weeks in prison for receiving stolen goods following a burglary at a hospital in Sudbury.

Police were called to Homefield Road in Haverhill at 9am on Saturday, May 21 where a van and its driver were blocking the access to industrial premises.

Officers discovered that the vehicle was a Ford Fiesta van stolen during the incident in Sudbury.

The van was seized and the man arrested and taken to Bury St Edmunds Police Station for questioning.

David Keay, aged 29, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods and failing to provide a specimen.

He was sentenced to eight weeks in prison for each offence with the terms running concurrently and was also disqualified from driving for 12 months.

Wills scheme to raise funds

A SOLICITORS' firm is gearing up for a week-long initiative helping people with their wills to raise money for charity.

Adams Harrison in Haverhill's High Street is just one of a number of firms offering the service in aid of St Nicholas Hospice Care, which helps patients cope with terminal illnesses and supports their families.

Wills Week is an annual project in which people who want last testaments written or revised can do at participating offices during June free of charge, with a donation requested.

Last year, the project raised £27,000 after more than 170 wills were worked on. The 13 firms who have signed for 2011 aim to beat that total.

A spokeswoman for Adams Harrison said that places are being filled quickly across their June 8 to 15 window and people should move fast to sign up. The service is also being offered locally at Wayman and Long, based in Clare, from June 1 to 8.

Margaret Lee, hospice legacies officer, said: "We are delighted so many solicitors are giving their time for free to help the hospice. We sincerely hope people taking part in the scheme will give an appropriate donation that acknowledges this generous support."

To book an appointment, contact the solicitor directly to organise a suitable date and time. For more information, contact Mrs Lee on (01284) 755000.

You can-can go to the ball

BY RACHEL ALLEN

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A SPARKLING charity ball auction will have an array of once-in-a-lifetime experiences up for grabs – and there is still time to book your place.

The Moulin Rouge Charity Ball organisers have pulled out all the stops to celebrate milestones for both Press Relief – the Weekly News community fund, which has been running for 10 years – and the Arthur Rank Hospice Charity, which is celebrating its 30th year.

The ball, on Friday, June 24, is sponsored by property company Bidwells and will be attended by hundreds of people and businesses.

Penny Potter, events and charity fundraiser for Press Relief, said: "This is a landmark year for both charities, so we came up with a fantastic idea to hold a ball."

She said the generosity of businesses and organisations meant experiences available in the auction included lunch for four at the BT Tower in London, hosted by BT staff; and a 30-minute helicopter ride for four from Wyboston Lakes, St Neots.

Other prizes include the use of a Saab convertible for a weekend, being a brewer for the day at Adnams, having a sailing experience with silver-medal Olympian David Wilkins and a Tottenham Hotspur T-shirt signed by the full first team.

There will also be a top-quality raffle with prizes including two premier badges to any race day at Newmarket Racecourse, a signed book of The Archers, and a John Lewis fashion consultant for the day, including a voucher.

Those attending the ball will have the option of dressing in Moulin Rouge-style dress or black tie.

Entertainment will include can-can dancers, stilt-walkers and an after-dinner casino. There will also be an opportunity to dance, with music from Cambridge band Charlie and the Funk Factory.

Dr Lynn Morgan, chief executive of Arthur Rank, said: "The ball is going to offer a fantastic evening of entertainment and we hope people will support these two very worthy charities by buying tickets."

They are £85, or £850 for a table of 10. For further information or to book a table, call (01223) 434375.

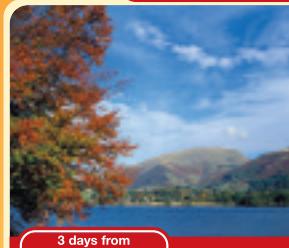

Press Relief is a charity run by trustees and donates money to local people and organisations in need. For more information, visit www.pressrelief.org

John McNally, Frank Allen, Spencer James, Scott Ottaway perform their number ones Sweets For My Sweet, Sugar and Spice and Needles and Pins and, combined with anecdotes and reminiscences. The concert also includes many of their original album recordings, B-sides and a selection of other well-known favourites.

Voices set to soar to Pacific heights

VILLAGE drama group The Over Players are preparing to set sail for exotic climes, now they have got the go-ahead to stage the musical South Pacific.

The group, based at Over, near Cambridge, had to get the transatlantic thumbs-up as there is talk of moving a current production of South Pacific at the Lincoln Center, on Broadway in New York, to London – and the licence holders feared there would be a clash between the two productions.

It took six weeks before the licence holders, Josef Weinberger, finally heard from the Lincoln Center that TOPS could put the musical on.

Director Christine Turner, who has been awarded this year's South Cambs Arts Council Award for the village drama category, said: "When I put this show forward I thought we would automatically get a licence from Josef Weinberger, only to be told that because the Lincoln Center were performing it they didn't know whether New York would give us in Over permission to perform it.

"We had to wait six weeks until the theatre said they would give permission. I was amazed."

The TOPS production will be

ISLAND LIFE: some of the cast of TOPS, who will be performing South Pacific.

presented at Over Community Centre from Wednesday, June 1 to Saturday, June 4 and will feature Helen Scully at Nellie Forbush, Chas Barclay as Emile de Becque, Sean Baker as Billis, Olive Swain as Bloody Mary, Alex Turpin as Lieutenant Joe Cable, Kirsty Smillie as Liat, John Lamoon as Captain Brackett and Rod Dundee as Commander Harbison.

South Pacific is set on an island during the Second World War and is one of most-loved musicals ever written. With music by Richard Rodgers and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II, it includes the songs Some Enchanted Evening, Younger Than Springtime, Bali Ha'i, I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Out Of My Hair, Happy Talk and I'm In Love With A Wonderful Guy – all of which have become worldwide hits.

From its first performance in 1949 it won a string of awards and spawned an equally successful film in 1958.

Tickets for the 7.45pm performances are £8.50, over 60s £6.50 and under 18s £6, and are available on 07521 099146 or from www.overplayers.org.uk

The big film

PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN: ON STRANGER TIDES
certificate 12A 137m

JOHNNY Depp's impressive resume is littered with oddballs – from the heartbreak title role in Edward Scissorhands and iconic B-movie director Ed Wood to a creepily childlike Willy Wonka and the maddest Hatter ever to grace Alice's Wonderland.

Yet of all his roles, he is probably best known as seadog Jack Sparrow in the Pirates Of The Caribbean films.

Alas, if the third chapter of the series, At World's End, was a water-logged bore, On Stranger Tides is moored in similar shallows, almost capsizing during an uneventful middle section that should have been edited to take the running time below two hours.

The introduction of 3D doesn't help either, making scenes seem darker, including a nighttime attack by a school of mermaids that is a whirl of digital gloom.

This time, Jack (Depp) joins forces with Barbossa (Geoffrey Rush) to locate the Fountain Of Youth: one of the world's last undiscovered treasures. The quest becomes more perilous when Jack is forced aboard the Queen Anne's Revenge, captained by legendary pirate Blackbeard (Ian McShane), who is also seeking the fountain, aided by his daughter, Angelica (Penelope Cruz).

Using all his guile, Jack must outwit Blackbeard and Angelica and reach the Fountain before his rivals.

En route, he crosses paths with round King George II (Richard Griffiths) and a hunky priest (Sam Claflin), whose attraction to one of the mermaids (Astrid Berges-Frisbey) tests his faith. Pirates Of The Caribbean: On Stranger Tides starts off promisingly with a fast-paced sequence in London.

Once the film takes to the water, the plot springs leaks and the screen chemistry between Cruz and Depp surprisingly never catches light.

McShane is a woefully ineffectual villain while Rush seems to be daydreaming of happier times on The King's Speech.

Depp is still funny but even his considerable talent cannot keep an entire blockbuster afloat. The film runs aground courtesy of Marshall's plodding direction and a lifeless script.

Gospel singers focus on culture

ONE of the world's most prominent gospel choirs, the Harlem Gospel Choir, returns to Cambridge with a brand-new show this Sunday.

Featuring 65 of the finest singers and musicians from Harlem, New York – ranging in age from 17 to 70 – the choir has travelled the globe for the past 25 years sharing its message of love and inspiration with thousands of people while raising funds for children's charities.

Known for its dynamic performances, the choir seeks to bring about a better understanding of the African-American culture and Gospel music, with the aim of bringing everyone together – regardless of nationality or race. Expect plenty of New York gumption from these acclaimed performers, who have sang alongside the likes of Elton John, U2 and Andre Rieu, as well as performing a successful tribute to Michael Jackson in Sydney last year.

MOWING the lawn becomes a weekly job as spring turns to summer, so it's important to choose the right model for the job.

With this in mind, some 33 models of three different types of mower were tested by Which? Gardening to find the best type, taking into account ease of use, cutting effectiveness and comfort of the handles and controls.

Some 17 corded electric mowers were tested, ranging from wheeled rotary types with four wheels, sometimes with a rear roller, to hover mowers which float on a cushion of air.

In trials it was found that wheeled types were best for a typical family lawn of up to 150 square metres, but if you need an extension lead longer than 25m, a small petrol mower might be worth considering.

Testers rated each mower on its ability to cope with different types of grass, how it managed lawn edges up to a soil border and the capacity of the grass box.

and meadow.

In this category, the Honda Izy (£350) came out tops, being easy to start and user friendly. It cut quickly and effectively on the test lawns, coping with long, short and rough grass well. The only drawbacks are the weight and stiff height adjusters, testers found. Also high among the petrol mowers was the Hayter Spirit (£270), a sleek, robust mower that coped with all the lawn tests and has an easy-to-clean plastic deck.

None of the cordless mowers trialled achieved best buy status because the battery only allows you to cut for a limited period before it needs recharging.

The Bosch 34 Li nearly made it, but the battery only lasted 15 minutes, enough to cut 150 square metres in the test. It takes an hour to recharge, which testers felt was limiting, and a spare battery costs £150.

Among the best buy mowers for small lawns, taking into account manoeuvrability in cutting a typical small family lawn, the Flymo Venturer (£65) came out the top scorer overall.

A CUT ABOVE: Trials by Which? Gardening showed that wheeled mowers were best for a typical family lawn of up to 150 square metres.

Abbotts to join huge summer auction

ABBOTTS in Haverhill is taking part a special summer auction hosted by Countrywide Property Auctions, the UK's largest regional auctioneer.

Taking place from noon on Thursday July, 21 at Kensington Town Hall, Hornton Street, London, the special event has been organised to meet the increasing demand for properties at auction and will include a large selection of properties supplied by leading local agents Abbotts. Ideal first-time homes, investment opportunities and substantial family homes will all be going under the hammer.

Launching the event, Mark Tanton, Countrywide's Principal Auctioneer, comments:

"As the prospect of a quick sale grows in popularity for both buyers and sellers, auctions have become an increasingly popular way of purchasing property in the UK. In April alone, over 1,200 residential properties were sold via auction in the UK."

"The wide range of properties available and the fact that average auction sales complete in just 20 working days make auctions a very attractive opportunity for all types of buyers and investors looking to pick up a bargain."

Local agent Abbotts are supporting this special event. To find out more about the properties in your local area going to auction or if you would like to sell your property through auction, visit www.countrywidepropertyauctions.co.uk or contact to your local Abbotts' office on (01440) 702575.

The deadline for entering properties into the special summer auctions is June 6.

Feeling blue – and loving it!

EVEN if blue skies can't be guaranteed outside, you can make sure the forecast's always good indoors with the year's coolest shades.

Blues are punching above their weight and dominating in homeware, undoubtedly helped by the seal of approval from royal bride Kate Middleton, who wore the colour for her engagement announcement and the day after her wedding.

"Fashion's taken blues to heart and our summer wardrobes will be filled with clothes in all its dazzling shades. Home designers are mirroring that trend," says Louise Smith, global colour designer for Dulux.

"Blue is associated with the power to soothe and relax. It's ideal for finally banishing the dull, sombre tones of winter and making rooms look fresh and invigorated."

This colour palette's an easy winner too, reminding us of cloudless skies and glittering seas and pools. Teamed with crisp white it can conjure a relaxed, informal beach house feel, or you can be more dramatic by using deep indigo tones.

"The main focus is bold, punchy and strong. Cobalt, royal blue, navy and azure rather than softer shades," advises Marc Petring, head of marketing at furniture chain Dwell.

"It takes confidence, but you can dip your toe into blues by experimenting with one statement piece of furniture, a rug or blue accessories."

"Too much blue can be oppressive so be sure to mix it up with whites or greys."

Rich, sultry, sophisticated inky blues through to pale pastels can all play a part in rooms. So don't be cautious, dive right in!

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- Send off change of address cards.
- Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- Take down curtains.
- Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- Turn off electric appliances.
- Disconnect cooker.
- Turn off boiler/central heating.
- Turn off water.
- Read gas meter.
- Read electricity meter.
- Secure all windows.
- Lock all doors.
- Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

Two Counties Motor Show due June 26

EXCITING things are happening in the run-up to this year's Two Counties Motor Show.

Now entering its 11th year, show organisers have just unveiled their plans and there are some great new additions.

For the first time, the first 10,000 adult ticket holders will be eligible to take part in the Show's free grand prize draw. One lucky winner will receive this year's top prize which has been sponsored by Catherine Jones Jewellery of Cambridge – a Fortis B-42 Black Mars 500 wrist watch. Retailing at £1,530, this spectacular limited edition watch is a firm favourite with astronauts because, in addition to its amazing looks, it will even work in zero gravity. Catherine Jones Jewellery are also launching the entire stunning Fortis range at the event.

This year's Two Counties Motor Show will also witness the unveiling of a new champion who will be fighting for the people's rights for low cost, economical motoring, the "Eco Stig". Dressed entirely in British racing green, some say he is the first truly carbon neutral being to ever inhabit the earth, others say he breathes carbon dioxide and exhales pure oxygen – all we know is he's on a mission to weed out the cleanest and most economical vehicles and give them his personal thumbs up. Eco Stig will be at the Show all day.

With more car dealers and classic car exhibitors than ever, the show will once again be at the Rowley Mile Racecourse in Newmarket. Drive Vauxhall will bring the Vauxhall GTC, for a first showing to the UK public.

"We've been awarded it to go the Show for its first public event," says Drive Vauxhall's general manager Sarah Ferrari.

The Two Counties Motor Show runs from 9.30am-4.30pm on Sunday, June 26 at the Rowley Mile Racecourse, Newmarket. Tickets cost £5 for adults and £2 for children aged 12-16. Adult tickets, eligible for the free prize draw, go on sale at Cambridge News offices around the region from May 30.

Organised by the Cambridge, Ely, Littleport and Newmarket Lions Clubs, the show provides a great day out and raises much-needed funds for charity. This year, all proceeds will be going to local charities and local projects including the Anglian branch of the Alzheimers Society and Centre 33.

For more information about the show visit www.twocounties-motorshow.org.uk or email Steve at info@twocounties-motorshow.org.uk.

Hybrids save an average of £500 a year at pumps

RESEARCH has shown that choosing hybrid – such as the Toyota Auris Hybrid pictured above – over an equivalent petrol car could save you considerably more money than you might have first thought.

The website's editor Faye Sunderland said: "While 2011 was widely predicted to be the year of the electric car, in terms of real market presence and accessibility, then 2011 is a breakthrough year for hybrids."

additional outlay within four years. Add this to the strong residual values for a typical hybrid model and you could find that the initial expense is well worth it.

The results were impressive – on average it was found that buying a new hybrid car instead of a petrol equivalent could save you on average over £500 a year in refuelling costs.

While the purchase price of a hybrid model tends to be higher than an ordinary petrol model, the difference in miles per gallon capabilities means that you could recover the

Skoda Fabia Greenline achieves a stunning 1,246 miles ON A SINGLE TANK OF FUEL

The Skoda Fabia Greenline: The entire GreenLine range is available from ALS Autos in Little Downham.

AUSTRIAN economy driving specialist Gerhard

Plattner has achieved 1,246 miles on a single 45 litre tank of fuel in a Skoda Fabia GreenLine. Starting in Reutte, Austria, Plattner drove to Bov, Denmark and back to achieve this impressive feat. The result of his effort is a record-low consumption achieved by the Fabia GreenLine – 127.8mpg, although the model's official consumption figure is 83.1mpg (combined). The Austria-based economy driving world champion used Germany's longest motorway, the A7, for his trip from Austria to Denmark and back. Dr Eckhard Scholz, head of technical development for Škoda Auto, said: "We work hard to reduce the fuel consumption in our vehicles. The primary goal of these efforts is to offer efficient technology in all of our models at affordable prices, and our second-generation GreenLine models meet this requirement perfectly. The Fabia GreenLine is going to show what can be achieved by combining refined technology with economy driving."

The trip was supervised by the International Police Motor Corporation (IPMC) who also sealed the fuel tank before Plattner set out from Reutte. Gerhard Plattner said: "The Škoda GreenLine models are perfect for fuel-efficient driving. In light of the current fuel prices, not only is that important for one's own wallet, but also for lowering environmental pollution. With a fuel consumption well below the specified norm, I want to show that besides the car manufacturers, every driver can contribute to further reduce this environmental pollution. It already starts with small details such as the proper tyre pressure."

The Skoda range, including all the Greenline model options, is available from ALS Autos in Little Downham. Please contact ALS Autos on (01353) 699302 for further information. You can also email the sales team on als4.skoda@aol.com or visit www.alsautos.co.uk.

Audi's Q3 kicks in at £24,560 for autumn

THE new Audi Q3 compact SUV is in good shape following the confirmation this week of keen pricing starting from £24,560, and the finalization of an impressive equipment list for all versions.

Orders for the third Q-model in the series, which will have the distinction of being the first Audi SUV to offer the efficiency-focused option of a 54.3mpg front-wheel-drive variant, are set to begin in June. Deliveries will start in November.

Four engines will initially be available, all combining direct fuel injection with turbo charging and all backed up by start-stop and energy recuperation systems – the 2.0-litre TFSI petrol unit in 170PS and 211PS forms and the 2.0-litre TDI with 140PS and 177PS. The 2.0-litre TDI 140PS unit will power the front-wheel-drive model only at launch, deliveries of which will start in December, shortly after the rest of the range.

All other engines will be linked to quattro all-wheel-drive, but regardless of the configuration secure handling will be assured by the sophisticated Electronic Stability Program with electronic differential lock, which effectively regulates torque distribution by braking individual wheels when they start to slip.

New efficiency feature for S tronicThe 2.0 TDI 140PS and 2.0 TFSI 170PS engines will be linked to a six-speed manual transmission as standard, while the 2.0 TDI 177PS and 2.0 TFSI 211PS units will feature a new development of the acclaimed seven-speed S tronic transmission. If the optional Audi drive select adaptive dynamics system with its new efficiency mode is specified, the rapid-shifting twin-clutch transmission disengages its active clutch each time the driver lifts off the throttle, allowing the Q3 to use the momentum already built up to 'coast' without the need for engine input. When the efficiency mode is selected, the electronic climate control and cruise control systems also operate at optimum for minimal fuel consumption.

Inside the deceptively roomy Q3 there is seating for up to five adults, a load bay of 1,365 litres, and an impressive level of standard kit.

Externally the SE option includes 17-inch alloy wheels, contrasting exterior trim, chrome window trims, aluminium roof rails and rear parking sensors, and inside dual-zone climate control, a Concert audio system with 6.5-inch manually retractable colour display screen, Bluetooth interface, Audi Music Interface iPod connection and light and rain sensors.

For a premium of £2,750 in each case, the new Audi Q3 can be upgraded to the S line specification, which includes 18-inch alloy wheels, S line exterior and interior styling enhancements, and xenon headlights with LED daytime running lamps and LED rear tail lights.

Options include 'steerable beam' adaptive light technology for the xenon plus headlights, a high-beam assistant to intelligently illuminate the road ahead, the hard drive-based navigation system plus with seven-inch colour screen and 3D mapping and the side assist blind spot warning and lane assist lane departure warning driver aids.

Rover and out: Haverhill Rovers under-11s after their final match of the season.

West Wrating 4 Haverhill Rovers 1

Cambs Mini League, Under-11B

THE home team dominated the first half, and Comer made the breakthrough after some fine one-touch passing from the Wrating attack split the defence. A second goal came from a well placed corner as Westley bundled the ball over the line.

The second half opened as the first had finished with Wrating on the attack, and Coleman hit the post.

Haverhill hit the bar, before the third goal came when good pressure from Harding ended in an own goal.

Haverhill continued to press and scored a deserved goal, but Wrating secured the win through Coleman.

Good round: Paul Wilby surged up the leaderboard thanks to his second-day score of 69 CP

Wilby's in good heart

HAVERHILL professional Paul Wilby recorded his best result since turning pro in 1990 in the first East Region Order of Merit event of the year.

A total of 106 PGA Professionals took part in the event at Woolston Manor Golf Club, near Epping, and Wilby finished tied for third place.

On day one, Wilby scored a level par 72 and was lying in 31st. But he then fired a best of the day three-under 69 on day two, in extremely windy conditions, to move up to a share of third with Darren Charlton and Danny Poulter (Ian Poulter's brother).

The event was won by Sean Whiffin of Hertfordshire

G&C Club on five-under, with Chelmsford GC's Brett Taylor on four-under.

Wilby said "I am extremely pleased with my start to the Order of Merit season and I am now looking forward to the next event in June. With limited time to practise, playing is not my priority these days, but I still love to be competitive".

Wilby won the Suffolk Open in 1997, the same year he had his career-best finish on the Futures Tour (now Euro-Pro Tour), when he won at Royal Norwich with a two-round total of six-under.

The next Order of Merit is at Bishop's Stortford GC on June 8 and 9.

Silverware: Julian North, winner of the Social Committee Cup at Haverhill Golf Club, pictured with Jim Walker and Kim Ward, winners of the HMP Foursomes Cup

Social Cup goes the way of North

JULIAN North won the Social Committee Cup, a mixed stableford event, with 43 points. His handicap of 13 was reduced by two shots to 11 as a result.

Second was Andy Bareham, playing off a handicap of three, with 40 points and third was Bryan Graham, playing off 17, with 39 points.

The Ladies' Stableford was run in conjunction with the Social Committee Cup.

Colville Palm-ed off

CHRIS Palmer hit 115 not out as Babraham inflicted a heavy defeat on Weston Colville.

Thomas Grint also chipped in with an unbeaten 57 as Babraham eased to 209, comfortably surpassing Colville's 207 with nine wickets to spare.

Trevor Westley was the highest of the Colville run-scorers during their innings, with Adie Westley (39) and Josh Smith (31 not out) also contributing to their final total.

Frank Cooke was a constant thorn in Colville's side with five for 29.

Phillips' happy return

ANTHONY Phillips celebrated his 16th birthday in great style with an unbeaten half-century and six wickets as Haverhill Sunday II beat Sudbury II in the Hunts County Bats League, Division Four.

Phillips struck with his first ball and went on to finish with 6 for 25 as Sudbury were dismissed for 130 after 32 overs.

Haverhill had a calamitous start, with four wickets down and only a handful of runs on the board.

But Phillips played with maturity and his 50 not out saw Haverhill home by three wickets, with help from Craig Williams (11), Graham Brandeis (17) and James Craig (18no).

Dan Poole was the hero in Division One as Haverhill beat Acton by six wickets.

Poole finished with 5 for 18 from 10 overs to ensure Acton were bowled out for 132. Poole then chipped in with 28 from No 4 in Haverhill's reply, but it was Sam Hartshorn's 50 which was the top score as Haverhill won with four wickets down.

Hondo's pace is too Test-ing

HAVERHILL slumped to third from bottom after a heavy defeat at Ipswich in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One.

Skipper Adam Dellar lost the toss and the visitors were asked to bat first, and Ipswich opening bowler Gooding soon removed Scott Webb for four and Dellar for a duck.

Sam Powell and Luke Youngs began to rebuild against the swing of Gooding and the pace of Zimbabwean ex-Test star Dougie Hondo, but just as it seemed they were getting the visitors back into the game Youngs (11) played on to Hondo and it was 27 for 3.

That became 27 for 4 when Steve Fox (0) lost his middle stump to Hondo.

With wickets continuing to fall, Haverhill were in disarray at 52 for 8, with Powell's 18 the top score.

Raj Singh joined Simon Youngs and the pair put on 40 runs before Hondo got through Singh's (13) defences. And three runs later Youngs (26) was another victim of Hondo (4 for 18) as Haverhill were bowled out for a dismal 95.

Ipswich's openers put on 28 before Chris Silverwood made the breakthrough, but catches were dropped and Ipswich had advanced to 52 before Silverwood bowled Rusby for 16.

At 73 the third wicket went down when Webb had Alder (30) stumped by Youngs, but Ipswich got home without further alarms. Silverwood finished with 2 for 28 off 15 overs.

Haverhill face Maldon, one of only two teams below them, on Saturday.

Bill Moran hit 71 as Haverhill II kept their unbeaten run going in Division Six and ended the 100 per cent record of Tuddenham in the process. Stand-in skipper Jason Ketteridge won the toss and chose to field, but Tuddenham raced away to 60 before Bill Moran took a low catch in the gully.

S Titcombe was punishing anything wayward and scored 15 boundaries in 72 before he was unluckily bowled by young Anthony Phillips.

This stroke of fortune seemed to re-galvanise Haverhill and 135 for 3 soon became 185 all out in the last of the 45 overs. All the bowlers contributed but the star performers were Phillips (4 for 36) and Dan Pass (3 for 10), although 48 extras, 27 of them wides, were concerning.

Moran and Liam Savage (35) put on a fine 81-run partnership in good time against some very decent bowling before Savage fell lbw.

Rob Ketteridge (13) played some decent strokes in his brief stay in a partnership of 40 with Moran and at 121 for 2 with plenty of overs remaining, things looked good.

But three wickets fell quickly before a partnership of 38 between Jason Ketteridge (32) and Ben Wilkins (9no) took the team to victory with five overs to spare.

Haverhill Wanderers cantered to victory in 20 overs against Babraham II in the CCA Junior League, Division 6B.

Kieran Bailey took three wickets as Babraham were dismissed for 134, before Nigel Brunning hit 49 and Steve Taylor 53 not out to propel Haverhill to a rapid nine-wicket win.

The Tractor Boys head to New Croft

IT should be second time lucky for Haverhill Rovers after they announced a pre-season friendly with an Ipswich Town XI at the New Croft on Wednesday, July 13.

The npower Championship side should have been one of the first teams to play at Rovers' new ground last summer.

But the pitch was not ready to be played on in time, meaning the fixture between Peter Betts' men and the Tractor Boys had to be cancelled.

Ipswich's first team are set to be in Holland at the time, so a mixture of reserves and youth products will make the journey.

A home game with Needham Market on July 19 and a trip to Leiston have also already been put into Rovers' pre-season diary.

Paffett's car trouble woe

GARY Paffett suffered disappointment in the latest round of German Touring Car Masters (DTM) action at Zandvoort.

Haverhill driver Paffett qualified in fifth, but suffered horrendous understeer in his C-Class Mercedes throughout the race and ended up crossing the line in ninth place at the Dutch track.

"I'm very disappointed with the race as I was hoping to come away with some solid championship points after qualifying in fifth," said Paffett.

"In the warm-up session I struggled with understeer and the balance of the car and unfortunately we weren't able to correct it in time for the race. I pushed as hard as I could but I couldn't defend my position."

The DTM championship resumes in Spielberg, Austria, on June 5.
